

Slot 21 Bench/Wall

Slot by Antoni Lupi is clean, essential, rigorous and modern. Corian as a material of choice with its uniform whiteness and silky surface to touch, such as the design rule to follow. Net shapes, square lines, sharp edges and width of the borders but total absence of drain, overflow, of all that can somehow confuse the perfect aesthetics of the object.

It remains a slit, a cut in the rear part of the basin, a thin opening that runs along the whole development of the basin and accommodates the water through the imperceptible inclination of the bottom, hiding the integrated siphon. The technical parts are invisible, water flows along a linear slot, the sink image remains clean, absolute, essential.
