

Cono Robe Hook

Gessi aims to fulfil the desire to blend nature with architecture in people's private habitats, envisioning the bathroom not only as a place for regeneration and well-being but also as a truly natural shelter.

During a journey among the lush scenery and the dwellings in South Eastern Asia, Designer and Sculptor Prospero Rasulo captured the sun filtering light cones across vegetation, the architectural form describing his ideal fusion of architecture and nature: The Cone, which became the new "sign" of Gessi.
