

Axor LampShower

Oki Sato from Japanese design studio Nendo loves creating moments of surprise. So he completely baffles us with a lamp that is actually a shower. Wall-mounted or on the ceiling: the AXOR LampShower does away with the traditional boundaries between spaces. The bathroom blends into the living area as though it were always so. At the same time, the AXOR LampShower brings a homely feel to the bathroom, and can be perfectly combined with shower and bathroom products from a range of different collections and styles. As well as the chrome variants, the AXOR manufacturing team offers various special finishes, such as a gold look for example. So the AXOR LampShower can be refined to suit personal taste.
