

Ago 85 Freestanding

Ago 85 by Antoni Lupi. Shape is fluid and iconic, the thinness of the edge enhances the naturalness of the final image, the continuity of the lines shows an organic DNA that softens the absolute geometries.

A new version that expresses the potential of the gesture which enhances the best elegant and harmonious design of the collection. A strong yet natural identity that when using the new material is a valuable ally for the overall interpretation of the project.

Agoterra, made from Flumood, is the harmonious synthesis of essential volumes, is the virtuous encounter between the perfect geometry of the circular basin with thin edges and the cylindrical base that narrows upwards. Just the delicacy with which it solves the connection between the base and the basin is the essential feature of the collection, and in particular of this freestanding washbasin that becomes the focus of a contemporary and transversal bathroom.
