

Funny West Bath

The sinuous forms of the West Coast, the saucy Californian atmosphere, the movement of the edges, the light surfing that accompanies the back rest and defines the final shape of the object.

A wave just reported, an edge that increases in height and is transformed from a restraining element in the backrest without solution of continuity. Funny West transmits an image a little carefree, casual yet elegant somewhere between a natural phenomenon and the body of a fireball that travels the highway running to the West Coast.

A small but big bathtub, only 151 cm long but can accommodate two people comfortably thanks to a project accurate in proportions and ergonomics, an essential characteristic of all Antoni Lupi products.

Weight: 145kg

Waste: Overflow waste supplied with bath

Material: Cristalplant

Capacity: 292L

Specifications

